

A model paragraph

English is a very important language because in most of the countries in the world is spoken and understood. The English language is a globally popular language and it is the medium of international communication. It is the global language because it is used in every book and it is the primary language for higher level studies. It is the language which is used in many countries. Also, the English language is an essential tool for communication; it is like a bridge that carries our ideas, expressions and it is the method through which we share our ideas, thoughts, and knowledge with others. So, we can say that everyone seems to be fond of learning English because it is one of the most dominant languages on the planet.

The Sentence that is written in red: is called the topic sentence.

Sentences that are written on blue: are called Supporting sentences.

Sentence that is written in green: is called concluding sentence.

A model Essay

English is known as the international language nowadays. It is used all over the world by the speakers of many languages because of its multiple uses and benefits in many aspects as in education, communication, business, movies, and even in sport. (Introduction)

The English language has become one of the world's most important international languages, which is used in many countries . It is the language of most transactions, conversation, documentation, laws, books; there is far more information available in English on the internet. At the educational level; English language plays a major role, people who study abroad use English as a means of communication and learning, the lack of English language skills makes everyone in the world today unsuitable for education. Also, it is necessary in order to read advanced knowledge written in English. It is said that half of the world's important books on medicine, science, technology, mathematics, religion, politics, philosophy, economics, etc are written in English; if we read them, we can widen and deepen our knowledge which ultimately enhances our culture understanding and civilization. Besides, at the international level, all the university interviews presentations are done through the English language. (Body: paragraph 1)

In present world of globalization, language is the only way through which people communicate with each other, express their feelings, emotion, without English it seems to be very difficult to share our views; it can help to build friendship, economy relationship. In addition, it functions as a tool to widen our culture and identification of the nations to different corners of the world. When we publish something about our culture and varied heritage in English, it will be read by many people in the world and they will be attracted by our culture and visit our country. Nowadays, a person who speaks English is measured a literate rather than by his knowledge. Also career opportunities are opened to those English speaking people like while taking a job interview; it is focused on English speaking skills of that person. (Body: paragraph 2)

In conclusion, English is one of the most dominating languages of the world which is having its impact on every field of work and life. "Language is the blood of the soul into which thoughts run and out of which they grow (Holms)"; it is simply means like blood is necessary for our soul, in similar way language is also important for our survival.

(Conclusion)