What is the Conditional Sentence?

GRAMMAR EXPLANATION

Conditionals describe the result of a certain condition. The if clause tells you the condition; And the main clause tells you the result. The order of the clauses does not change the meaning.

What is the Conditional Sentence?

INTRODUCTION:

There are many different ways of making sentences with “if”. It is important to understand the difference between sentences that express:

- ❑ no conditions = zero conditional
- ❑ Possible conditions = first conditional
- ❑ improbable conditions = second conditional
- ❑ impossible conditions = third conditional
