

Exercises

1. Empiricism Exercise :

- Investigate a mechanical system or component, such as a simple pendulum or a spring-mass-damper system. Design and conduct experiments to measure relevant parameters, such as oscillation frequencies or damping coefficients. Analyze the data to understand the physical behavior of the system.