

Reconstructing the Narrative Structure

Arrange the sentences from the following text in the correct order to rebuild the narrative structure.

1.

After about an hour, a man arrived, grateful and relieved.

We chatted for a bit, and later, we became good friends.

One had a phone number scribbled on it, so I took a chance and sent a text to the number, explaining that I had found a wallet and hoped it belonged to them.

It had some cards and cash, but no ID.

After waiting a few minutes,

I didn't get a reply right away.

I glanced around but didn't notice anyone who might have left it behind.

I didn't know what to do at first, so I decided to look through the receipts inside.

That's how I met my best friend, Tom

I was on the bus, and I happened to see a wallet on the seat next to me.

I arranged to meet the owner at a nearby café.

The message said, 'Thanks so much! That's my wallet!'

Just as I was about to reach my stop, my phone buzzed.

One evening,

I picked it up and checked inside.

2.

I got a message from someone saying,

'Those are my keys! I've been searching for them all day!'

We ended up talking for a long time, and since then, we've become great friends.

A few hours later,

One morning,

I decided to post about the lost keys on a local community app, hoping someone might recognize them.

When Emily arrived, she was so thankful and even offered to buy me coffee.

I was walking through the park when I saw a set of keys lying on a bench.

I looked around but didn't see anyone who seemed to be looking for them.

After waiting for a while,

That's how I met Emily, who is now one of my closest friends."

We agreed to meet at a coffee shop near the park.

I decided to pick them up.

The keychain had a distinctive tag with the name 'Emily' on it, but no contact information. Not sure what to do,
